Situation of British Politics Sized Up Without the Illumination of the Peckham Election -- Cape to Cairo Railway Things London is Talking About,

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. LONDON, April 4 .- It is often possible to view the politics of any country in truer perspective at a distance than in the midst of the turmoil. Goldwin Smith has done Englishmen a valuable service in summing up in a very few words the real significance of the present situation here as it appears to him in Toronto. Writing to the Spectator, Political events in England tell on us in Canada, and we happen at this moment to he debating the question of the second house of Parliament. Now comes to us a report of a division in your House of Commons on the unemployed workmen bill, an unmistakable scheme of socialistic confiscation for which, it seems, 116 members voted, while, what is still more ominous, 288 members absconded "Now, do away with the second chamber and give over the country and the empire to a single demagogic house, soon perhaps to be made still more demagogic by the addition of female suffrage. Two things this scene portends: One is the final break up of a party condition that had already become grotesque, when to make a party moderation and socialism were clamped together and, side by side, sat Irish enmity to the British empire and British patriotism. The other thing foreshadowed is the collapse of demagogic government. I say demagogic, not democratio.

"You fancy that Britain is a monarchy and that the United States are a republic. The United States have a monarch, and a powerful one, though elective, in their President, and a force, mainly conservative, in their Senate. Your monarchy whatever it may be socially, is politically an historic form. Your House of Lords is morally weak, excluded from action on money bills and now threatened with abolition. You are drifting toward absolute government by a single demagogic house of the character and probable action of which a pretty clear judgment can now be Goldwin Smith had not heard of the rewill of the Peckham election when he wrote the foregoing. His conclusions are perfeetly logical, but fortunately England has already taken alarm, and it is true today that no national legislature in the world is so completely unrepresentative of the opinions of the electorate as the British House of Commons.

CAPE TO CAIRO BAILWAY.

Cecil Rhodes's great dream of a Cape to Cairo railway is pushing on toward reali-Negotiations have just been completed for the extension of the road from its present terminus at Broken Hill to Maarranged with a Belgian group to further continue the line northwest through the great copper belt to Ruwe. Rhodes's ideal was to have the line all British, but this of course is impossible. It will be necessary to traverse a great wedge of foreign territory south of the equator, including the French Congo, the Congo Free State and German East Africa. The gap between the Congo and Khartum is not yet arranged for, but it can scarcely be doubted that the great enterprise will be carried through in the not distant future.

That eminent Italian authority, Prof. Santori, advances a curious theory with regard to ambidextrous persons in a paper published this week. He insists strongly that children should be taught to use both hands equally, for he declares that the almost exclusive use of the right hand results in a weakening of all the muscles on the left side of the body. Not only are the muscles of the left arm weakened but also those of the leg and chest on that side. Also the left lung is less developed, the circulation of the blood in it is feeble, its breathing is imperfect, and so it is nearly always the left lung which is first attacked by tuberculosis.

The brain itself corresponds to the use of the hands, for whereas in right handed persons the centres which govern the tongue occupy the left hemisphere they are found in the right lobe in left handed persons. The professor thinks the power of speech would be doubled if men made equal use of both hands. He points out that hotel waiters speak several languages with equal facility, and he holds that this is because they for the most part are ambi-

If the professor's theory is true pianists, should be remarkable linguists and elocutionists.

KHEDIVE NEAR COLLISION

The Khedive of Egypt, whose great fad Is locomotive driving, had a narrow escape the other day while running an engine on the State railway. He suddenly found his way blocked by a wagon loaded with nig iron. The royal engineer showed wonderful presence of mind. He reversed and used his full brake power and stopped just short of the obstruction. He then left the engine, walked back to a station and had an interview with the responsible official there which that individual probably will never forget.

They have native papers even in Morocco and the rival Sultans have their press organs. A Fez journal that is supporting Malai Hafid has been having a wordy warfare with a Tangier contemporary which champions Abdul Aziz. A copy of the Fez later just received thus addresses its colleague of Tangier:

"What thou sayest, O little dog of dogs is absolutely false. See rather, O bear of terrs, what is said in the English papers. Thou savest, O ass of asses," &c

WATCHORN STUDYING EXCLUSION.

Although Commissioner Watchorn's visit is private, he has been looking into the workings of the British alien immigration act and has been discussing the subject with War Secretary Haldane and Chief Inspector Porter, The discusion centred principally on the "white slaves" and the Government is equally interested with the United States, as regards repressive meas-

When the immigration of these two classes was discussed by Watchorn and Porter three years ago Inspector Porter showed himself especially doubtful as to the merits of the British act in regard to the working clause under which steamship companies bringing emigrants to the United Kingdom for transshipment to the United States are compelled to give a guarantee of $25,000 that the immigrants will not remain in this country. This clause has since been fully enforced with teneficial results far Leyond Porter's expeciations.

Watchorn says The point of interest to the United States is that you cannot have legislation of a out its being at least partially beneficial time the Court ordered the reinstatement of Mr. Seeley.

the United States by restricting the number of undesirables that come to our country. We are working along precisely the same lines and are obtaining similar results. It is significant that all that class of aliens that could not get in at New York but could enter England is losing that position now, because she will not let them in either. The British aliens act is being enforced with as much vigor and with even better success than has attended our efforts as regards the 'white slave' traffic." Commissioner Watchorn is gratified especially by the vigorous application of the alien law against anarchists. Without an understanding, a sort of reciprocal working system has sprung up regarding anarchists, and now what America aims at achieving and what Inspector Porter is extremely willing to cooperate in accomplishing is the suppression of the white slave dealers.

"Those nefarious traders are going to find their area of operations greatly circumscribed now that England is narrowing up and the United States and Canada are absolutely closed to them," said Porter.

SHAW FOR PARLIAMENT.

There is a new candidate for parliamentary honors whose political fortunes will command world wide interest. Somebody in the audience at a big Queen's Hall meeting the other day asked George Bernard Shaw if he would stand for Parliament. Barkis modestly intimated that he was willing if they would give him support enough. Now his friends are looking for a favorable constituency. This is a difficult problem, for while Britain at large would send G. B. S. to Westminster by unanimous vote, minus one, for the sake of his oratorical powers, no single constituency has clamored for the honor of naming him as its representative. The responsibility as well as the honor would be too great for any single district to assume. Shaw's friends declare. not without reason, that his election in itself would involve a political revolution and a new age, and while booming his candidacy, warn the country of the dangers it involves.

WORK FOR EDUCATED WOMEN. The demand for employment by educated in any other country. Nowhere in the world is the dilemma of a woman accustomed to luxury and suddenly thrown on her own resources so distressing as in England. This problem was discussed yesterday at a great conference in London where representative women of England, Ireland and Scotland met to decide on the best means to help educated women to earn a living wage.

Lady Bective pleaded for the formation of a London trades school for women where education on special studies could be combined with trade training. Alice Woods of the Maria Grey Training School gave some results of inquiries into the subject of coeducation in America. She said the custom had originated as a matter of convenience and it was an excellent training for girls. Regarding the statements as to baya on the Congo frontier. It has been effeminacy of American boys she attributed more to the great predominance of woman teachers than to the presence of girls in the schoolrooms.

PATHOLOGICAL RESEMBLANCES.

A new theory by the British Medical lournel is that persons resembling each other suffer from the same diseases. A London physician says that if two persons are so alike in their internal structures that they develop the same organic degenerative diseases, it is by no means strange that outwardly they would show some resemblance. The likeness between acute rheumatic patients was often noted Large, fair people with coarse brown hair are especially liable to this complaint. Long before the germ theory was ever thought of it was observed that there was a particu lar type of person who was apt to contract onsumption.

At the London School of Tropical Medicine demonstration was given yesterday of he Walker test to determine the efficiency f disinfectants. The germs of typhoid ever were used. The test consisted of exposing one portion of the growth of the typhoid germ to the action of a standard strength of carbolic acid and another to that of a particular disinfectant which was to be tested and to determine the extent to which the germ had been destroyed in each case in the same length of time. This the Admiralty and other government detest has been adopted by the War Office, partments. A discussion followed, in which it was pointed out that the public were frequently defrauded by so-called disinfectants which had no germicidal action whatever. ROYALTY AND SOME OTHERS.

The Queen and the Russian Empress continue their sightseeing in London after who have, so to speak, two right hands, the manner of painstaking American tourists. Wednesday forenoon they visited the House of Commons, where both ladies sat in the Speaker's chair, after the time honored custom of tourists.

A reception given by the Japanese Ambassador was the only social feature of the week. It was in honor of Prince Fushimi. The guests were entertained by a troupe of Japanese players headed by Sada Yacco. Among the Americans present were Messrs. Ridgely Carter and Craig Wadsworth and Mrs. Arthur Glasgow.

The suffragette bazaar has attracted many visitors to see a model of a Holloway jail cell, which is faithful in all details, even to the prisoner in correct prison uniform. The object of this fair was not only to raise money but to prove to the general public that the suffragettes who agitate are as capable needlewomen, cooks, artists and dressmakers as their sister women. All the articles sold were the work of the suffragettes and their sympa-

While at Oxford he and Mrs. Brooks were the guests of Mrs. Fiske Warren, an American woman who has taken the highest degree in phiosophy which Oxford confers. Mr. Brooks, while enthusiastic about Oxford, is convinced that Harvard possesses great practical advantages for students. Joseph C. Anderson of Auburn, N. Y. will be married here early next week to anarchists, in both of which the British Mrs. Helen Sabine Brown, an American woman now here.

KING OPPOSES MISS ELKINS

REFUSES ROYAL RANK TO HER AS BRIDE OF ABRUZZI.

She Won't Consent to Wed in an Inferior Position and the Duke Is Going to Rome to Plead With Victor Emmanuel Rigid Press Censorship Enforced.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. LONDON, April 4. - Some idea of the Italian official attitude toward the Abruzzi-Elkins romance may be gained, perhaps, from the women is greater proportionately here than | fact that the authorities refuse to transmit telegrams on the subject from Rome to the American newspapers. The Sun's Rome correspondent, who filed the despatch given below and had it returned to him. interviewed the Director of Telegraphs, who replied, when the correspondent offered to change any portion of the despatch that might be objectionable, that it was quite useless to make any alterations as the Home Office had determined to stop all telegrams dealing with the subject. The rejected despatch follows: "Rome, April 2.- A prominent official of he royal household furnishes the following information relative to the Abruzzi-Elkins affair to a leading Florentine journal:

"Abruzzi never attempted to hide his admiration for Miss Elkins, and on his return from America on the steamship Varese he spoke of his intended marriage to all of his relatives, but everybody thought that his admiration was not of a lasting character. The King wishes him to remain faithful to the traditions of his house and to keep up its prestige by means of the nobility in its domestic alliances. Hence it is not true that he is willing to grant Miss Elkins all the rights of a royal princess "The Duke realizes that the opposition of his cousin constitutes an insurmountable obstacle to his marriage to Miss Elkins and he is convinced that the only possible solution would be a morganatic marriage. Before the Duke went to America in Februsry he discussed the marriage with the King, who consented to grant Miss Elkins a princely title, which would be just beneath that of a royal princess, and hence the marriage would not be a strictly morganatic one. Miss Elkins refuses to become the wife of the Duke unless she acquires by marriage the full rights and standing of a royal princess and equal rank with that of her husband and the wives of other cousins of the King. So the Duke has now come back to Italy determined to persuade the King to sanction the marriage without any restrictions.

"The above information has the appearance of being genuine and it tallies with the gossip prevailing among the entourage of King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Margherita. It is a well known fact that the King opposes the marriage, but on the other hand he is willing to allow its celebration provided Miss Elkins does not become a royal princess. Queen Margherita regards it as a mesalliance and considers it to be beneath the Duke to marry an untitled woman.

"The decision rests wholly with the King. however, and it is not likely that his mother would influence him directly, but in all probability every effort will be made to prevent the marriage.

"The Duke expects to come to Reme shortly, perhaps to-day, and plead his own cause. This will entail a great deal of time and tact, as he will have to overcome opposition and prejudices on every side."

KAISER MUST HAVE THE LEAD Illuminating Auto Incident on Unter den Linden-Berlin Notes.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. BERLIN, April 4 .- An incident happened on Unter den Linden the other day which goes to show the strictness of military discipline as well as of imperial etiquette in the royal family.

The Kaiser and the Crown Prince, each in his own autocar, were returning to the palace from an inspection when by some movement of traffic the Crown Prince's car got in front of his father's. After driving for a few hundred yards in this changed order, the Crown Prince noticed what had occurred. He at once ordered his chauffeur to draw to the side of the road. Then he stood up in the car and with his hand to his helmet in military salute waited until the Kaiser had gone by. Paul Knox, the American composer of ragtime music, who was arrested at Cologne on his way to Paris, is so well liked in the American colony that no one believes him guilty of swindling, and the consular office is doing its best to secure his release. His chief accuser is a tailoring firm on Unter den Linden, which claims $400 for goods delivered during the last six months. Mr Knox affirms that the clothes were made on the express assurance that there would be no hurry in regard to payment. Knox and his partner will be brought back to Berlin to stand trial.

Morton F. Plant, commodore of the New York Yacht Club, will arrive in Berlin on Monday after a long automobile tour. He will go to Scotland shortly to take over his yacht and will leave the Clyde to share the glories of Kalser week at Kiel with the CUBAN QUARANTINE STOPPED.

Magoon Advised of Concessions Made by Marine Hospital Officials. Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN.

HAVANA, April 4 .- Gov. Magoon has won is fight against the quarantine regulations. A cable message received from Washington to-day states that the Marine Hospital Service authorities have advised President Roosevelt that passengers from Havana, Mariano, Camp Columbia or from other parts who have been in those places for six days before they sailed for the United States should be admitted without any restrictions.

WASHINGTON, April 4.-An agreement has been reached between Surgeon-General Walter Wyman of the Marine Hospital Service and Brigadier-General Clarence R. Edwards, chief of the Bureau of Insular Affairs, over the date upon which the proposed quarantine against Cuban ports becomes operative. It was originally intended that it should go into force on April 1 but it was postponed for one week pending an investigation by the military surgeons on the island, whose reports showed that there was practically no yellow fever in Cuba and that the quarantine was not necessary. It is expected that the enforcement of the quarantine will be postponed for several weeks.

Philippine Democrats Vote for Bryan and a Conservative Platform. Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN

MANILA, April 4.-The insular Democrate in convention declined by a majority of one this afternoon to adopt a resolution condemning Taft's administration of the Philippines as Governor-General. There was a sharp division among the delegates from all sections of the islands as to the policy of Taft's administration and harmony of action was secured only after a five hour discussion. The fight followed on the introduction of local conditions into national politics and the discussion of past mistakes. The conservative element finally prevailed and a platform was adopted which calls attention to the need of Congressional action to bring about the development of the country, the necessity of immediate revision of the tariff, national and local, and expresses confidence in the Democratic party After the acceptance of the conservative report of the committee on resolutions another resolution was introduced specifically condemning Taft and committing the convention to Bryan. It was amended by the elimination of the reference to Taft This amendment was carried by one vote. The Bryan section of the resolution was then adopted by acclamation. Six delegates and six alternates were elected to attend the national democratic convention.
